Rationale for Recommendation

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a five year renewal for Bedford Stuyvesant New Beginning Charter School with one condition, related to the school’s enrollment targets for at-risk students. By June 30th in each year of the next charter term, the school must demonstrate growth in meeting the host community school district enrollment rates for students with disabilities (SWDs). The school must also meet the host community school district enrollment rates by the end of the charter term. Throughout the charter term, the NYCDOE charter authorizing team will conduct annual reviews (Annual Comprehensive Reviews) to serve as a mechanism to monitor the school’s growth in these areas and provide feedback as to whether the school is on track to meeting the conditions.

Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. BSNBCS performed above the district in two out of three years in the charter term in both Math and ELA. BSNBCS’s students performed above the Community School District (CSD) average in ELA in 2014, 2016 and 2017 and above the CSD in Math in 2014, 2015 and 2017.

*Self-reported by the school.

Bedford Stuyvesant New Beginnings Charter School enrolls a higher proportion of economically disadvantaged (ED) students as well as a higher percentage of English language learners (ELLs), and a lower percentage of students with disabilities (SWDs) (Table 5). This lower percentage of SWDs has resulted in a condition for the school. This condition will be monitored yearly during the NYCDOE Annual Comprehensive Review process.

The school is making good faith efforts to recruit, serve, and retain at-risk students². The school's recruitment efforts, which are described in the Renewal Application, include building relations with local institutions that serve large numbers of economically disadvantaged families. To recruit SWDs, the school highlights the Special Education services they provide in the prospectus and flyers they distribute. The school also employs a bilingual (English and Spanish) family and community engagement manager, holds open houses in English and Spanish and has translators available during parent- school conferences. The school has also made efforts to enroll students displaced by Hurricane Maria in Puerto Rico. The school also makes an effort to serve homeless students and students in transitional housing.

Summary of Public Comment

As required by the Charter School Act, the NYC DOE held a public hearing about the proposed renewal on November 16, 2017. Fifty-five individuals attended the hearing. Sixteen comments were made in support and none were made in opposition to the proposed charter renewal.

² Education Law §2854(2)(a) requires that schools demonstrate good faith efforts to attract and retain a comparable or greater enrollment of students with disabilities, FRPL eligible students and English language learners when compared to the enrollment figures for such students in the school district in which the charter is located. SUNY and the Regents were charged with setting specific enrollment and retention targets for each charter school, and have done so. Education Law §2852(9-a)(b)(i). All charter schools that were initially chartered after August 2010 or renewed after January 1, 2011, are expected to meet or exceed the enrollment and retention targets set by the Regents and SUNY. When submitting an application for renewal of the charter, schools are required to provide information detailing the means by which they will meet the enrollment and retention targets (Education Law §2851(4)(e)), and this information is considered by the Regents in the review of the school's performance over the charter term. A school's plan to change its enrollment practices, whether by weighting the lottery or preferencing, may also be considered when determining whether the school will meet the targets in the upcoming charter term. A school's repeated failure to meet or exceed its enrollment and retention targets, when combined with a failure to show that extensive efforts to meet the targets have been made, may be cause for termination or revocation of the charter pursuant to section Education Law §2855(1)(e).

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a three year renewal for Bronx Global Learning Institute for Girls Charter School, The Shirley Rodriguez-Remeneski School (BGLIG) with three conditions. BGLIG’s renewal conditions are in the area of enrollment targets for at-risk students. By June 30th of each year of the next charter term, the BGLIG must demonstrate growth in meeting the host community school district enrollment rates for English language learners (ELLs), students with disabilities (SWDs), and students who qualify for free and reduced-priced lunch (FRPLs). Ultimately, the school must meet the host community school district enrollment rates for each subgroup by the end of the charter term. Throughout the charter term, the NYCDOE charter authorizing team will conduct annual reviews (Annual Comprehensive Reviews) to serve as a mechanism to monitor the school’s growth in these areas and provide feedback as to whether the school is on track to meeting the conditions in each year of the charter term.

Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. Bronx Global Learning Institute for Girls Charter School, The Shirley Rodriguez-Remeneski School has exceeded the CSD in ELA and Math in all years of the charter term. In the most recent year, the school has performed 15 percentage points higher than the CSD in ELA and 2 percentage points higher in Math.

Students with Disabilities	13	25	-12	11	26	-15	11

*Self-reported by the school.

BGLIG enrolls a lower percentage of economically disadvantaged (ED) students when compared to the district of location, a lower percentage of English language learners (ELLs), and a significantly lower percentage of students with disabilities (SWDs) (Table 5). Although the school has made progress toward enrolling a higher percentage of ELLs, SWDs and student who are economically disadvantaged, the under enrollment of students in these subgroups has resulted in a condition for the school in each of these areas. These conditions will be monitored yearly during the NYCDOE Annual Comprehensive Review process.

The school's recruitment efforts, which are described in the Renewal Application include recruiting from daycares in the community school district and sending out enrollment materials in both English and Spanish. BGLIG also offers a lottery preference to English language learners. In an effort to retain at-risk students, the school has multiple staff members, including the Principals and the Guidance Counselor, who speak English and Spanish. The school is also adding an additional staff member to serve as a Counselor/Dean that supports students in their emotional growth in addition to their behavior management. Finally, the school is redefining the Coordinator of Parent and Student Affairs role to support their at-risk student population even more.

Summary of Public Comment

As required by the Charter School Act, the NYC DOE held a public hearing about the proposed renewal on October 25, 2017. Eleven individuals attended the hearing. Seven comments were made in support and none were made in opposition to the proposed charter renewal.

Rationale for Recommendation

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a two-year renewal with one condition for Equality Charter School to achieve enrollment of ELLs that meets the host CSD by the end of the charter term. Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. Over the course of the charter term, Equality’s middle school grades have performed with mixed results in ELA and Math when compared to the CSD.

⁴ Additional information can be found in the NYC DOE renewal report at <http://schools.nyc.gov/NR/rdonlyres/9B781A63-F5E1-4133-9CB8-1BE924950EC0/0/84X488EqualityCharterSchoolRenewalReport20172018.pdf>

Additionally, Equality’s high school Regents scores have also demonstrated mixed results when compared to the citywide averages. Throughout the charter term, the NYCDOE charter authorizing team will conduct annual reviews (Annual Comprehensive Reviews) to serve as a mechanism to monitor the school’s growth in this area and provide feedback as to whether the school is on track to meeting the condition in each year of the charter term.

The school requested an enrollment increase to account for students who have been retained in the 11th grade. The increase was for a small number of students (20) who are currently enrolled at Equality. Given the limited impact on the community and the school’s commitment to continue to serve its students, the Chancellor recommends an approval of this enrollment increase. Lastly, Equality Charter School has been a participant in the District Charter Partnership Restorative Practice strand as a Learner School.

Equality Charter School enrolls a higher proportion of economically disadvantaged (ED) students when compared to the district of location, a smaller percentage of English language learners (ELLs) and a slightly smaller percentage of students with disabilities (SWDs) (Table 5).

The school's recruitment efforts, which are described in the Renewal Application include a lottery preference for ELLs to increase the likelihood of these students being selected in the lottery, providing translated materials to families, and building relationships with community partners and organizations that work directly with ELLs and their families. To recruit students who are eligible for free and reduced-priced lunch, the school partners directly with community organizations that accept government vouchers such as the YMCA and those that offer public health programs in the Bronx Community. For SWDs, the school's special education coordinator works closely with parents to ensure that if their child has an IEP they are made aware of the SPED accommodations offered, which includes an inclusive school environment.

Summary of Public Comment

As required by the Charter School Act, the NYC DOE held a public hearing about the proposed renewal and revision to the charter on October 12, 2017. One hundred and fifty-one individuals attended the hearing. Fifty-three comments were made in support and none were made in opposition to the proposed charter renewal.

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a three-year renewal for Inwood Leadership Academy Charter School with one condition. The condition is related to enrollment targets. The school must demonstrate growth in meeting the host community school district enrollment numbers for English language learners (ELLs) throughout the charter term and, ultimately by the end of the term, meet the host community school district ELL enrollment rates. Throughout the charter term, the NYCDOE charter authorizing team will conduct annual reviews (Annual Comprehensive Reviews) to serve as a mechanism to monitor the school’s growth in these areas and provide feedback as to whether the school is on track to meeting the conditions in each year of the charter term.

Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. Inwood Academy for Leadership Charter School has performed with mixed results over the course of the charter term. Over the last two years, the school performed below the host community school district on the ELA exam in one year and slightly above the community school district in the most recent year. Over the last two years, the school has performed below the host community school district in Math.

Inwood Academy for Leadership Charter School currently enrolls a higher percentage of economically disadvantaged (ED) students when compared to the district of location, a lower percentage of English language learners (ELLs), and a higher percentage of students with disabilities (SWDs) (Table 5). The significantly lower number of ELLs has resulted in a condition for the school in this area. This condition will be monitored yearly during the Annual Comprehensive Review process.

The school's recruitment efforts, which are described in the Renewal Application include partnering with Democracy Builders to prioritize NYCHA housing and who handed out over 8,000 application packages in the Washington Heights, Inwood, Kingsbridge and University Heights sections to focus on areas of high needs such as student eligible for Free and Price lunch. The school also advertised in Spanish language newspapers to increase ELL enrollment.

In an effort to retain ED students, ELLs and SWDs the school employs many support staff members such including a Director of Family and Community Engagement, Directors of Academic Intervention Services, a Counselor, a Social Worker and a Dean who are all available to provide services to students and families and address any concerns or needs.

Summary of Public Comment

As required by the Charter School Act, the NYC DOE held a public hearing about the proposed renewal to the charter on November 28th, 2017. One hundred and fifty-eight individuals attended the hearing. Sixteen comments were made in support and none in opposition to the proposed charter renewal.

Requested Revisions	Decrease the maximum authorized enrollment from 500 to 460 students.

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a three-year renewal for Renaissance Charter High School for Innovation with three conditions. The conditions are in the areas of governance and enrollment targets. The Board of Trustees must hold monthly meetings totaling no fewer than 12 meeting in a calendar year and consistently meet quorum (as defined by the school’s Board Bylaws) at each monthly meeting by June 30th of each year of the next charter term. Throughout the charter term, the NYCDOE charter authorizing team will conduct annual reviews (Annual Comprehensive Reviews) to serve as a mechanism to monitor the school’s growth in these areas and provide feedback as to whether the school is on track to meeting the conditions in each year of the charter term.

Renaissance Innovation School requested an enrollment revision to decrease the current authorized enrollment from 500 students to 460 students beginning in the 2018-

19 school year. If approved by the New York State Board of Regents, the school will be authorized to serve 460 students in grades 9-12 in each year of the charter term.

Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. Except for one Regents subject test in the first year of the charter term, Renaissance Charter High School for Innovation pass rates were consistently below the citywide rates. Similarly, the school’s graduation rates neither met nor exceeded the citywide rates. However, Innovation has consistently outperformed other New York City High Schools with similar student populations. 95% of Innovation’s students are enrolled in the CCR program, which incorporates Advancement Via Individual Determination (AVID), Culinary Arts, and a partnership with Co-Op Tech. Innovation continues to attract and retain students with disabilities and enroll SWDs at rates that are consistently 15 to 20 percentage points above the host community school district.

The Renaissance Charter High School for Innovation serves a significant at-risk population: 22% of Innovation students are over-aged and under-credited, including a significant majority of students who enter far below grade level. To address the learning needs of students, this school has a comprehensive 4-year college program, including a Culinary Arts, Software Engineering, and pop vocals program. The school reviews the progress of all students at the end of year three and creates tailor-made programs for their senior year to ensure that the students who are ready will graduate at the end of four years. For those students who need additional time, the Innovation Plus program aids students to allow them to complete high school and obtain their degree.

Renaissance Charter High School for Innovation enrolls a lower percentage of economically disadvantaged (ED) students when compared to the district of location, a higher percentage of English language learners (ELLs), and a significantly higher percentage of students with disabilities (SWDs) (Table 5).

The school is making good faith efforts to recruit, serve, and retain at-risk students⁷. The school's recruitment efforts, which are described in the Renewal Application include arranging presentations at local Housing Developments, making presentations to middle school classes that are primarily serving ELL and SWDs and working with guidance counselors to ensure that their students with IEPs are made aware of the school's special education model.

Additionally, 22% of the school's student population is overaged and under-credited. The school has a comprehensive program to attract and retain the hardest to reach and most at-risk students including culinary arts programs, internships, AVID, APEX, and LEAP programs designed specifically to cater to the needs of the city's most underserved students.

To retain their at-risk students, Renaissance Charter High School for Innovation connects students and parents to outside resources, provides at-risk counseling, an advisory program and parent engagement through their Parent Coordinator.

Summary of Public Comment

As required by the Charter School Act, the NYC DOE held a public hearing about the proposed renewal on December 5, 2017. Forty-five individuals attended the hearing. Twenty comments were made in support and none were made in opposition to the proposed charter renewal.

⁷ Education Law §2854(2)(a) requires that schools demonstrate good faith efforts to attract and retain a comparable or greater enrollment of students with disabilities, FRPL eligible students and English language learners when compared to the enrollment figures for such students in the school district in which the charter is located. SUNY and the Regents were charged with setting specific enrollment and retention targets for each charter school, and have done so. Education Law §2852(9-a)(b)(i). All charter schools that were initially chartered after August 2010 or renewed after January 1, 2011, are expected to meet or exceed the enrollment and retention targets set by the Regents and SUNY. When submitting an application for renewal of the charter, schools are required to provide information detailing the means by which they will meet the enrollment and retention targets (Education Law §2851(4)(e)), and this information is considered by the Regents in the review of the school's performance over the charter term. A school's plan to change its enrollment practices, whether by weighting the lottery or preferencing, may also be considered when determining whether the school will meet the targets in the upcoming charter term. A school's repeated failure to meet or exceed its enrollment and retention targets, when combined with a failure to show that extensive efforts to meet the targets have been made, may be cause for termination or revocation of the charter pursuant to section Education Law §2855(1)(e).

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a three-year renewal for St. Hope Leadership Academy Charter School. Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. St. Hope Leadership Academy Charter School has consistently performed below the community school district (CSD) in both ELA and Math until the most recent school year when the school met the CSD in ELA and outperformed the CSD by 2 points in Math. This demonstrates a proficiency that doubled in one year for ELA and a Math proficiency rate that nearly doubled in one year.

also provides application materials in English, Spanish and French and also hosts orientation, recruitment and open house events in those three languages. To recruit SWDs, the school has formed relationships with feeder schools that serve high populations of special needs students.

To retain ED students, the school ensures that all students are fully able to participate in school activities, regardless of their ability to pay. The school does this by not charging for field trip expenses and by providing free uniforms for students and families who cannot afford the expense. For ELL retention, the school offers comprehensive ELL services provided by a tri-lingual Coordinator, two bi-lingual Learning Specialists, and two bi-lingual Guidance Counselors as well as numerous other bi-lingual staff members. In addition to the differentiated and targeted instruction provided by learning specialists with Special Education certification, the school also employs a Director of Special Education to support the retention of SWDs.

Summary of Public Comment

As required by the Charter School Act, the NYC DOE held a public hearing about the proposed renewal on November 30, 2017. One hundred and twenty-six individuals attended the hearing. Twenty-six comments were made in support and none were made in opposition to the proposed charter renewal.

Mission	The Equity Project (TEP) Charter School believes that teacher quality is the most important factor in achieving educational equity. Spurred by this belief, TEP reallocates its public funds by making an unprecedented investment in attracting and retaining great teachers. TEP students learn from TEP's master teachers in six core subjects - English, Math, Music, Social Studies, Science, and Physical Education. TEP's curriculum emphasizes language development and interdisciplinary learning.

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a five-year renewal for The Equity Project Charter School with two conditions. The conditions are related to governance and fingerprinting compliance. The Board of Trustees must hold monthly meetings totaling no fewer than 12 meeting in a calendar year and consistently meet quorum (as defined by the school's Board Bylaws) at each monthly meeting by June 30th of each year of the next charter term. Additionally, by June 30th of each year of the charter term, the school must demonstrate compliance with fingerprint clearance standards set by the authorizer. Throughout the charter term, the NYCDOE charter authorizing team will conduct annual reviews (Annual Comprehensive Reviews) to serve as a mechanism to monitor the school's growth in these areas and provide feedback as to whether the school is on track to meeting the conditions in each year of the charter term.

Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. The Equity Project Charter School has performed above the community school district (CSD) in Math for each year of the charter term and has consistently shown progress in Math with the exception of the most recent year (-1 percentage point, within the margin of error). For ELA, TEP has demonstrated more mixed results; however, the school was never significantly behind the district, usually trailing by no more than 5 percentage points.

The Equity Project Charter School enrolls a higher percentage of economically disadvantaged (ED) students when compared to the district of location, a slightly lower percentage of English language learners (ELLs), and a slightly higher percentage of students with disabilities (SWDs) (Table 5). Over the course of the charter term, TEP has significantly diminished the gap between the school and the district in the enrollment of ELLs.

The school is making good faith efforts to recruit, serve, and retain at-risk students¹². The school's recruitment efforts, which are described in the Renewal Application include offering preferences in their admissions lottery for SWDs and ELLs. For example, during the 2017 Admissions Lottery, TEP reserved at least 30% of its 5th grade seats for English language learners and at least 15% of its 5th grade seats for students with disabilities. In order to further the recruitment and retention of ELLs, TEP offers Spanish translation services at open house presentations and the school's core office staff and social workers are bilingual. The school consistently exceeds the community school district in the enrollment of students who qualify for free and reduced price lunch (FRPL).

Summary of Public Comment

As required by the Charter School Act, the NYC DOE held a public hearing about the proposed renewal on December 6, 2017. One hundred and one individuals attended the hearing. Thirty-three comments were made in support and none were made in opposition to the proposed charter renewal.

¹² Education Law §2854(2)(a) requires that schools demonstrate good faith efforts to attract and retain a comparable or greater enrollment of students with disabilities, FRPL eligible students and English language learners when compared to the enrollment figures for such students in the school district in which the charter is located. SUNY and the Regents were charged with setting specific enrollment and retention targets for each charter school, and have done so. Education Law §2852(9-a)(b)(i). All charter schools that were initially chartered after August 2010 or renewed after January 1, 2011, are expected to meet or exceed the enrollment and retention targets set by the Regents and SUNY. When submitting an application for renewal of the charter, schools are required to provide information detailing the means by which they will meet the enrollment and retention targets (Education Law §2851(4)(e)), and this information is considered by the Regents in the review of the school's performance over the charter term. A school's plan to change its enrollment practices, whether by weighting the lottery or preferencing, may also be considered when determining whether the school will meet the targets in the upcoming charter term. A school's repeated failure to meet or exceed its enrollment and retention targets, when combined with a failure to show that extensive efforts to meet the targets have been made, may be cause for termination or revocation of the charter pursuant to section Education Law §2855(1)(e).

The NYC DOE Chancellor is recommending a five-year renewal for VOICE Charter School of New York with one condition. The condition is related to enrollment targets. The school must demonstrate growth in meeting the host community school district enrollment numbers for English language learners (ELLs) throughout the charter term and, ultimately by the end of the term, meet the host community school district ELL enrollment rates. Throughout the charter term, the NYCDOE charter authorizing team will conduct annual reviews (Annual Comprehensive Reviews) to serve as a mechanism to monitor the school’s growth in these areas and provide feedback as to whether the school is on track to meeting the conditions in each year of the charter term.

Pursuant to the NYC DOE Accountability Framework, academics are the primary factor when evaluating a school. VOICE Charter School of New York, with the exception of this most recent year’s ELA exam, has performed above the New York City average in both ELA and Math for all years of the current charter term.

VOICE Charter School of New York School enrolls a higher percentage of economically disadvantaged (ED) students when compared to the district of location, a lower percentage of English language learners (ELLs), and a comparable percentage of students with disabilities (SWDs) (Table 5). The lower enrollment of ELLs has resulted in a condition for the school in this area. This condition will be monitored yearly during the Annual Comprehensive Review process.

The school is making good faith efforts to recruit, serve, and retain at-risk students¹⁴. The school's recruitment efforts, which are described in the Renewal Application include offering a lottery preference for students receiving SNAP benefits and discussing the school's Free and Reduced Price meal program with families at their Open Houses. To recruit students who are English language learners, the school also advertise in languages other than English, conducts outreach to prospective families with their multilingual staff and works with trusted service providers in immigrant communities share information about the school. For SWDs, the school includes information about their special education services on their website and in their recruitment advertisements.
